RESEARCH TRAINING

2021-2023 Laureate Institute for Brain Research, Tulsa, OK
Supervisor: Robin Aupperle, PhD

Focus: Analyze data and lead manuscript preparation for investigation of neural and behavioral indices of approach-avoidance conflict processing before and after exposure-based and behavioral activation therapies in patients with clinical anxiety. Develop novel experimental paradigms to investigate neural underpinnings of maladaptive behavior patterns in clinical populations.

2016-2022 University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, MN
Advisor: Shmuel Lissek, PhD

Dissertation: "Deciding Which Fears to Face: Behavioral and Neural Mechanisms of Costly Avoidance in Clinical Anxiety" (defended June 2021)

Focus: Collect, process, and analyze fMRI and behavioral data for NIMH-funded study investigating generalization of conditioned fear and avoidance in a sample of civilians and military veterans across a range of psychopathology, with the goal of identifying neural substrates of processes relevant to approach-avoidance conflict, and establishing neural predictors of maladaptive avoidance decisions. Lead analysis and manuscript preparation.

Collaborators: Kendrick Kay, PhD; Phil Burton, PhD; Gang Chen, PhD.

Committee: Shmuel Lissek, PhD; Matt Kushner, PhD; Iris Vilares, PhD; Jonathan Gewirtz, PhD.
